Newly Weds Foods' Celebrates National Burger Day at its Head Office

Some may consider it as the most important food event date of the year, after all who doesn't love a burger!? As the gourmet burger trend continues unabated Newly Weds Foods's wanted to celebrate by inviting its staff members to enter a build your own burger competition. Two prizes were awarded, one for the most innovative burger and one for the best overall flavour.

Jonathan Madeley was the winner of the best flavoured burger, by taking one of our most loved cuisines, Indian. The beef burger had a mango chutney centre coupled with an impressive build and that all important textural experience by adding a pakora topper!

Harriet Hughes won the most innovative burger which was a mole burger with chilli choc centre, avocado sauce and churro. The inspiration came from the growing interest in regional Mexican and food mashups, thereby using churros rather than a traditional bun carrier!

Other contenders include a coffee and port burger as well as a Korean kimchi burger! Please see our website to download a full copy of all the burger creations.
